COOL AIR REBATE SALUTE

A SPECIAL PROGRAM FOR VETERANS & MILITARY

Save Up To 95% On Auto A/C Repair!

California summers keep getting hotter, and a working air conditioner is about safety, not luxury. Through Cool Air Salute, the California Cool Air Rebate Program says thank you to those who served by covering 95% of a qualifying vehicle A/C repair, up to $1,500 — higher coverage than anyone else receives. It's the same trusted program Californians count on, now with even more for our veterans and military families. Fix your A/C, enjoy a cool ride, and breathe a little easier on the road.

WHO QUALIFIES

- Veterans, active-duty service members, and their families — including spouses and unmarried children under 21, or under 23 if a full-time student.
- California residents with a vehicle from model years 1993 to 2019 (or an older vehicle retrofitted with R-134a) that has a leaking R-134a A/C system.
- Household income at or below 225% of the 2026 Federal Poverty Level (see the income chart at coolairrebate.org), or enrolled in Medi-Cal, CalFresh, CalWORKs, or Healthy Families.

WHAT'S COVERED

- 95% of the cost of a qualifying A/C repair, up to $1,500 per vehicle.
- Repairs to a leaking R-134a air conditioning system, confirmed by a diagnostic at a participating shop.

HOW IT WORKS

Pre-Qualify. Answer five simple questions to see if you pre-qualify. If so, move to the next step and complete the application.

Rebate Approval. Submit a full application online or by mail. The Cool Air Rebate Team will send you a confirmation letter if you are eligible for the rebate.

Repair Your A/C. Bring your vehicle and the approval letter to a participating auto shop to find out if it has a leaking A/C system. If your vehicle qualifies, the repair will be covered up to 95% of the cost, with a maximum of $1,500.
